BRYAN WANTS FULL PUBLICITY

AND HE WANTS IT BEFORE THE ELECTION IS HELD, TOO.

On His Order Committee Agrees to Take No Corporation Money, to Take Not More Than $10,000 From Any Man and to Publish All Contributions Over $100.

LINCOLN, July 14.-Mr. Bryan dominated the national committee to-day as completely as he did the convention at Denver. Thirty members of that body and nine rroxies arrived this morning in a special train from Denver. They were genial and affable and willing to talk, but really they could not say what the committee would do until after they had talked with Mr. Bryan. In truth they admitted they did not know. They nad half formed ideas about the chairman and the date and place of notification, but that was all.

So it was that Mr. Bryan had his way about it as to method of selecting the officers to manage the campaign and the date and place of notification.

The Eastern men thought it would help the party to have the notification in New York or some doubtful State in the East, and Charles F. Murphy had sent word that that was his desire.

Mr. Bryan wanted it made at Lincoln end it was so ordered.

It was suggested that August 4 would te about the proper date. Mr. Bryan wanted to give Taft time to be notified first and suggested Wednesday, August 12. i hat was adopted.

Mr. Bryan wanted a minimum sum named which should not be published among the campaign contributions, and it was agreed that the names of those who gave less than $100 should be omitted to save them from the wrath of their em-

None of Tom Lawson's tainted tin for the Democracy. His half million in a lump can't be accepted under the rule made to refuse all contributions over $10,000. At the meeting of the committee Mr. Eryan introduced the matter of campaign contributions in the following speech:

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the com mittee: I recognize that the main work of the campaign is done by the sub-committees, and yet before entering upon the campaign I was anxious to have an opportunity to meet personally the full membership of the committee. Upon this committee, acting directly with other persons selected in accordance with its authority, rests the responsibility of carrying on this campaign, and I desire upon this first meeting with you to express my deep appreciation, not merely of the honor that has been paid to me by the party which you as an organization represent but my entire satisfaction with the platform which was adopted by the convention which has recently adjourned, and my gratification too that a candidate Vice-President has been selected who is not only a political friend and a personal friend but one in whom I have entire confidence. [Applause.] don't know how I can better express feeling on this subject than to say that if I am elected President and if Mr. Kern is elected Vice-President I shall not be afraid outlined in the platform, which I shall endeavor to put into operation, will be just as carried out by him as they would be by me. [Applause.]

I do not know how I can express in stronger language my satisfaction with the nomination that the party has made for Vice-President.

Aside from desiring to meet you personally I thought there were certain things that ought to be decided upon at once, and as I have the honor of having with me at this time our candidate for Vice-President, Mr. Kern, I have conferred with him about two or three matters and I shall present at this time a request in which he and I join. I have reduced it to writing. My lack of about expressing myself without preparation [laughter], is my excuse. Here it is: "Gentlemen of the committee: The platform recently adopted by the national con-vertion of our party at Denver contains the following pledge: "We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law prohibiting any corporafrom contributing to a campaign fund and any individual from contributing an amount above a reasonable amount, and providing for the publication before election of all contributions above a reasonable with this pledge and are gratified at its adoption. With its fulfilment a new era in American politics will begin. Elections will be then regarded as public affairs, and the in fluences which control them instead of being secret will be known to the voters.

As an earnest that our party will make good its pledge we ask you to construe this plank and put it into immediate operation. This can be done. The adoption of a resolution announcing that in pursuance of the policy outlined in that pledge your committee will not accept any contribution whatever from any corporation; that it will not accept any contribution from any individual above a reasonable amount, and that it will tributions above a reasonable minimum.

"We suggest for your approval a maximum of $10,000 and a minimum of $100, no contribution to be received above $10,000 and all contributious above $100 to be made

"We suggest also that on or before the 15th day of October publication shall be made of all contributions above $100 received up to that date: that after the 15th of October publication shall be made of such collections on the day that same are received, and that no contribution above $100 shall be accepted within three days of the election.

With the hope that these suggestions may be favorably acted upon, we are, with great respect, &c., yours truly,

"WILLIAM J. PRYAN.

"JOHN KERN." We have felt that this is the proper time o make this announcement. At the Republican national convention a plank in favor of publicity was turned down by a very large vote. The indignation that has been expressed over the action of the convention has already been felt by the Republican leaders and they are now attempting to avoid all the censure that has been falling upon them by announcing that through their treasurer, a New York man, they would publish the con-

You will notice that the point made in our platform is that the contributions shall be published before the election.

It is not sufficient to learn after the election of the influences that have purchased the election. The public ought to know before the election what influence is at work to secure the success of a party, and our platform makes that distinction, and we ask that this committee at this time declare itself in harmony with the plank, and that this committee so interpret this plank that the public cannot fail to see the difference between our position and the Republican one.

We say that no contribution shall be accepted from any corporation. A corporation is not created for political purposes and has no right to contribute to campaign funds. and we want this part of the plank distinctly indenstood. 'We want a limit placed upon individual contributions so that no contribu tion may be received from any individual so large as to indicate that individual's interest of a personal character in the result of the election, and we want all contributions above a reasonable minimum made public in order that the public may judge what influences are at work and thus be better able to decide on which side those interested only in good government should cast their votes; and we have suggested a minuimm of $100 because people can contribute that amount without suspicion, and those contributing publication of their contributions would embarrass them. For instance, an employee of a corporation might heartily desire to assist in this campaign, and if his contribution was published it might subject him to punishment at the hands of the corporation, and the arguments that have justified the secret ballot justify crecy in regard to contributions so small that they cannot be supposed to represent an nterest that is attempting to purchase favors. We have simply suggested $10,000 as a maximum and $100 as a minimum; we have suggested October 15 as the date upon which all contributions up to that time must be published, and that we cannot be accused of desiring to conceal anything we suggest that where contributions are made after October 15 that they be made known the day they are received, and that they may not accuse us of attempting to receive contributions on the last day, too late for publication, we suggest that no contribution above $100 shall be received within three days of the election. We have tried to cover every point. We want to make an honest campaign; we want the public to understand that it is an honest campaign, and we want to appeal to the honest sentiment of the country that I believe demands the return of the Government to the hands of the people. [Applause.] Following the statement by Mr. Bryan of the desires of himself and Mr. Kern as to campaiga contributions this resolution, introduced by Daniels of North Carolina, was adopted:

"Pesolved, That the Democratic national committee in pursuance of the please.

"Pesolved, That the Democratic national committee in pursuance of the pledge given in the national platform recently adopted at Denver announces that it will accept no contributions whatever from corporations; that it will accept no individual contributions above $10,000 and that it will make publication before the election of all individual contributions above $100; contributions received before October 15 being published on or before that date, and contributions received after that date being published on the date they are secured, and that no contributions above $100 shall be accepted within three days of the election." lays of the election.

A full report is to be published within thirty days after the election.

The committee decided to have the Kern notification take place at Indianapolis at a date to be fixed later.

Some of the laddes in the party overlooked the candidate for Vice-President and passed by without shaking his hand. Mr. Kern seemed to take it for granted that he was only a side show and uid not betray any sign that he was disconcerted by the failure to notice him. James Kerr, the new national committeeman from Pennsylvania, in an interview in alluding to the defent of Cuffey said it was "one of the weak spots that we had to get patched up before the campaign opens." Any man elected President by the votes of the people is a safe man to trust with authority. What Wall Street financiers may say on the subject is not conclusive. The financiers are always arrayed against progress when it might affect the earning power of their dollars. to spend the most money.

Tom Lawson's reputed offer to finance the Democratic campaign was received with gentle hoots. As "Major Jim" Dahiman put it: "Lawson is a four flusher who is working for himself and nebody else. He might put in half a million if he thought that he would get two millions otherwise.

He might put in half a million if he thought that he would get two millions; otherwise I can't see him doing it."

Of the four men who have been mentioned prominently for chairman of the national committee none came to Lincoln for to-day's conference. Atwood is the only one who holds membership in the committee and he returned home to Leavenworth from Denver immediately after the convention.

He has made no decision on the matter himself.

That He Has Broken With Taft and That He Is to Run for Congress.

BOSTON, July 14 .- A statement issued today from the executive office at the State House denies that Gov. Dr. Remington has asked for a jury trial instead of the usual hearing before a master. A written agreement alleged to have been made by Mrs. Remington permitting her husband to have any women friends he might choose will be the principal evidence offered by the defence. The agreement, which, he says, permitted him to do as he pleased, will be offered to show that Mrs. Remington condoned any offences that may have been committed.

PUBLICITY TAFT'S ISSUE TOO

WILL CHALLENGE BRYAN TO GET IN UNDER NEW YORK LAW.

Candidate Devotes the Day to His Acceptance Speech-Takes Planks From Dem ocratic Platform to Breakfast-Verys Coming for Conference on Foraker.

Hor Springs, July 14 .- Mr. Taft will assert his independence by including in his speech of acceptance a personal plank on publicity of campaign contributions, a proposition which stumped a Republican congress and which was ignored as an issue by the Chicago convention.

In doing this Mr. Taft will also accept the

Bryan challenge to make publicity one of the leading issues in the coming fight, and when his speech of acceptance has been delivered there will be no doubt in Mr. Bryan's mind or in anybody else's how Mr. Taft stands on this question

Mr. Taft, it is understood, is a little hot over the charge in the Democratic platform that the Republicans intend to conduct the present campaign with "vast sums of money wrested from the favor seeking corporations," and he is prepared to challenge the Democrats to show their good faith by coming in, as the Republicans have, under the operation of the New York State publicity law.

In voluntarily subjecting themselves to that law Mr. Taft and other Republican leaders feel that they have scored a point on the Democrats which will have to be met in some ether way than in platform

If Mr Taft desires to strike without gloves on this publicity issue all he will have to do is to turn to some of the recent disclosures regarding contributions to former Bryan campaigns, including the Guffey statement. It is more than likely that there will be a tender reference to these contributions, but the main point will be to call the Bryan bluff and to establish the fact that Mr. Taft is ready and willing to meet this issue squarely.

Mr. Taft spent most of to-day working on his speech. He entered the dining room for breakfast with a lot of planks under his arm. They were from the Democratic platform and each was pasted nicely on a slip of white paper.

He started right in to have a plank with his fruit, and when he came to the oatmeal a plank went with almost every spoonful. First it was a spoonful, then a plank, a spoonful, a plank, and so on until the bowl was empty and the platform exhausted. Meanwhile, however, the rest of the breakfast was getting cold and the waiter, who didn't know a plank when he saw it. was fretting himself sick trying to attract Mr. Taft's attention from the slips. After breakfast Mr. Taft took a walk with

After breakfast Mr. Taft took a walk with the planks on the veranda, and then he carried them to his room and began to tell a stenographer what he thought of them.

Mr. Taft has decided to make his speech of acceptance brief, in keeping with the Republican platform. The other speakers at the formal notification on the 28th will follow the same rule. There will probably be 3,500 words in the speech of acceptance, but Mr. Taft expects to touch upon all the issues in the Republican platform. The candidate's letter of acceptance, which will not be made public until September, will contain about 15,000 words.

The Roosevelt letter of acceptance in 1904 contained 18,000 words. Mr. Taft will write the letter in August before leaving Hot Springs for his Cincinnati porch campaign. He expects to take up in it any issues that may arise after the speech of acceptance is delivered.

Mr. Taft has expected to devote the week acceptance is delivered.

Mr. Taft has expected to devote the week exclusively to the preparation of his speech, but he finds that it is impossible. Arthur I. Vorys, national committeeman from Ohio and recently designated by the sub-committee to manage the Taft campaign in that State, will be here to-morrow. There are some matters connected with the Ohio campaign that can't be put off any longer, and paign that can't be put off any longer, and so Mr. Taft invited Vorys to break in on the speech.

believed that the one thing Vorys

It is believed that the one thing Vorys and Mr. Taft are to consider is the proposed Burton boom for Senator to succeed Foraker. Mr. Taft is a great admirer of Congressman Burton, who delivered the nominating speech for him at the Chicago convention; but the question that is agitating the Taft people is how much of a row would the attempt to displace Foraker kick up in the State and what would be its effect on Mr. Taft's candidacy.

The Burton supporters contend that an attempt to send Foraker back to the Senate would be more detrimental to Taft than any fight that could be waged between the Foraker and Burton forces. It is evident, however, that Mr. Taft hasn't taken that view of it as yet. If he had Congressman Burton would have announced his candidacy before he left here the other night.

Mr. Vorys also will take up with Mr. Taft the general plan of the campaign from the porch of Charles P. Taft's home in Cincinnati.

Marshal Allen proposes to make the delegation something like the delegation of Confederate veterons that went out to Canton from Virginia in one of the McKinley campaigns. Mr. Taft left the matter open, but he will probably consent to make the address.

Other invitations have come in, but he has explained his acceptance of the Bath county invitation on the ground that he is temporarily living in the county and it would be discourteous to refuse to speak

M'CARREN UNITING FACTIONS

FOES ATTEND BIG RATIFICATION MEETING IN KINGS.

The Senator, Thrown Out of Denver Convention, Gets More Cheers Than Bryan -He and His Followers to Support the Ticket-His Grievance Only "Local."

A special meeting of the Democratic county committee of Kings county, which registered more than five-sixths of the votes cast at the last primaries, but whose representatives were branded as irregular both by the State and national conventions, was held last night in the Thomas Jefferson Building, in Court Square, Brooklyn, to ratify the ticket nominated at Denver and indorse the platform. It was at the suggestion of Senator P. H. McCarren. directly on his return from Denver on Saturday with his wounds still fresh, that the call for the meeting was issued, he having decided that no personal grievance would be allowed to operate against the earnest and loyal support of the candidates by himself and his followers.

Very few of the delegates to the county ommittee were absent from last night's gathering, and the seven Assembly district leaders who joined in the revolt against McCarren on the eve of the last primaries and their district associates were all present There was also a large crowd in the gal-

Bryan's name got a great acclaim, but the feature of the meeting was the ovation tendered to Senator McCarren when he arose to present the ratification resolution. The cheering lasted several minutes and could be heard several blocks away. The delegates rose to their feet and wildly waved their arms in the direction of the Senator, who preserved his accustomed cool demeanor during the demonstration. Col. James D. Bell, the veterar chair-

Col. James D. Bell, the veterar chairman of the committee, who presided, in calling the delegates to order said that when the regularly constituted majority of their party had spoken they must all bow to the final action taken, accept the result, whatever it may be, and stop growling.

"The great national Demo cratic party," he said, "has announced its creed. It has put before us its candidates and we are bound to accept them and the platform put before us its candidates and we are bound to accept them and the platform adopted." Col. Bell said that the character and sincerity of Mr. Bryan were unassailable and that he was easily the leading public man in America.

"There is no doubt," the speaker said, "that he stands for something and that he will be able to explain for what he stands. The majority has named Mr. Bryan as our candidate and we are going to give him as loyal a support here in Kings county as he will receive on the Pacific slope, in the Western States or any other part of the country. John W. Kern, the candidate for Vice-President, is a man of honesty, integrity and ability, and we have no reason to be ashamed of the ticket in any way." In closing, Col. platform and the nominations made at Denver and pledged "cordial and united support to the platform and candidates."

When the demonstration for the Senator had subsided he said:
"There can be no question at all in regard to the attitude of the Democracy of Kings county. It will loyally support the party candidate for President, as the record shows it did in 1896 and 1900, when he also ran, and nobody in the United States is better aware of that fact than Mr. Bryan himself. The Kings county Democracy did all that was possible for him in the two campaigns in which he was unsuccessful. In 1900 we reduced the adverse plurality of 33,000 in 1893 to about 3,000. Mr. Bryan has established a precedent in being nominated by his party for a third term after two defeats. This proves the great confidence the party has in him as their leader. Mr. Bryan is a consistent and faithful Democrat and therefore we owe him all the supcrat and therefore we owe him all the support we can give him from now until election day.

"I may say whatever grievances we may have locally or whatever wrongs we may be called upon to redress are purely local considerations. We have a sentiment may be called upon to redress are purely local considerations. We have a sentiment in common in opposition to the men who control the State machinery of the party, but Mr. Bryan has had nothing to do with this matter and therefore he should not suffer on account of the situation. This question will be dealt with by ourselves and we are fully competent to deal with it ourselves. [Applause.] The time for this will be on next primary day. I am sure that no man with impulses of manhood will submit to the treatment we have received from the men who control the State organization. [Applause.] I confidently believe that we will be triumphant at the primaries and that the people of Brooklyn will vindicate their honor and decency." [Applause.] In seconding the resolution Frank Taylor said that the Democracy of Kings county was going to get together and bury all factional differences, so that Kings county may lead in New York State in support of the ticket. The resolution was then unanimously adopted.

One of the delegates then presented a

One of the highest judicial officials in the county, who has the confidence of the leading men in both factions, made this the county, who has the confidence of the leading men in both factions, made this statement yesterday to a Sun reporter:

"Now that the climax of this fight between the McCarrenites and anti-McCarrenites has been reached there is in my opinion going to be a reaction soon, very soon. Not only is a national and State election impending but the local campaign includes the election of a Supreme Court Judge to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Abbott and six Congressmen, eight Senators and twenty-three Assemblymen. The normal Democratic majority in kings county is closely bordering on 20,000, but with a party organization so badly split up as at present there is sure to be a serious loss so far as the State ticket and the various local offices are concerned, even if the county should give a majority for Bryan and Kern. Both sides are fully cognizant of the situation and negotiations will be underway very soon with a view to avert a clash at the primaries and restore party harmony all along the line. To accomplish this each side is to make concessions, and even the leadership of the organization may be kept in abeyance until after the election."

SARATOGA, SEPT. 15,

Will Be the Republican State Convention Date, in Spite of State Fair. State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff, who was at Republican headquarters in East Thirtieth street yesterday, announced after some further consideration that the State convention would be held in Saratoga on September 15 after all, despite the fact that the State fair will be running at Syra-Mr. Woodruff said he would like to oblige the State fair people, but the hotel keepers in Saratoga had assured him that it would be impossible to keep their big inns open for a convention to be held later than the week of September 15. He has called a meeting of the State committee for the week of August 10, the meeting to be held on August 12, very likely, and at that time the State com-mittee will formally issue a call for the conwention.

Mr. Woodruff was also optimistic yesterday. While the breezes from an electric fan played over him he informed the reporters that in his opinion the battle in this State was over, all but counting the ballots.

"Everwhead I have talked to is optimistic."

was over, all but counting the ballots.

"Everybody I have talked to is optimistic," said Mr. Wccdruff, "and if I were to do nothing but listen to what people say I might as well closs up the headquarters and fold my arms. But we are going to work just as hard as if the State was really in danger. We will carry the State for Taft and the State ticket by hard work."

Next Friday Mr. Woodruff will receive a number of Republican leaders at his Adirondacks place, Kamp Kill Kare, William L. Ward of Westchester county, Herbert Parsons and William Barnes, Jr., among the number. It is likely that James S. Sherman, the candidate for Vice-President, will pay Mr. Woodruff a visit at Kill Kare providing he is strong enough to leave his home in Utica. Frank H. Hitchoock, chairman of the national committee, who went to Utica yesterday to see Mr. Sherman, may also drop in at the camp in the Adirondacks. also drop in at the camp in the Adirondacks.

HEARST AND GRAVES. Ticket Indorsed by 28 Men and 2 Women

District of Columbia Independents. WASHINGTON, July 14.—Hearst's Independence party of the District of Columbia to-night in Masonic Temple selected three delegates to the National convention to be held at Chicago this month and instructed them for William Randolph Hearst for President and John Temple Graves for Vice-President. Two, rival patent attorneys were the star performers. One of them was elected a delegate to the convention, the other started to make a speech denouncing the affair as cut and dried denouncing the affair as cut and dried when the meeting was adjourned.

An orchestra of five pieces played "Dixie" persistently until somebody revealed the fact that John Temple Graves, billed as the speaker of the evening, had been detained and would not arrive until to-morrow. There were precisely twenty-eight men and two women present. The women said they came merely to see the fun. Several young men came to the reporters' desk and explained that they were employees of one of the patent attorneys ployees of one of the patent attorneys— the one that won—and performed merely

"My father is a Republican," said one of them, "and so am I. Dad would give me hell if he knew I had anything to do with this meeting to-night. I am going to vote for Taft."

Max Ihmsen was not present, although advertised to be present and speak. A little blond man with spectacles asked averabledy to wait and to receive a pamphlet everybody to wait and to receive a pamphlet at his hands, which he said Mr. Ihmsen desired to have read.

CALLS AWARD INADEQUATE. Justice Kelly Decides Against the City in a Condemnation Proceeding.

Justice Kelly of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn has set aside the award of $7,700 made to the Zerega brothers for a piece of property in Front street, adjoining the Brooklyn Bridge, by the commissioners in condemnation proceedings instituted by the city.

The construction of a big factory building by the Zerega brothers, from which they expected a rental of $13,000 a year, was stopped by the Bridge Department on the ground that in case of a fire in the factory the bridge structure would be endeavourse. bridge structure would be endangered. Condemnation proceedings were then tarted and only $7.700 was awarded for slice of the property, although it was worth, as estimated by experts, $35,000. Justice Kelly says that the award is so inadequate that it is the duty of the Court to set it aside, as in the case of an inadequate verdict by a jury. The case, he says, is not one where a clearly inadequate award should be countenanced any more than the Court would support the case of the countenanced any more than the Court would approve an exorbitant allow-
